Celebrated by Irish-Americans.

The members of the Irish-American are making rapid progress in their arrangements for the appropriate celebration of Washington's birthday. A meeting of the various committees will be held in the office of Attorney Thomas P. Walsh in the Equitable building at 8 o'clock tonight. Tickets for the ball are being rapidly disposed of by the members.

IMPROVING.

The many friends of Mrs. Della Logan, the venerable mother of Mike Logan, for many years a Deputy at the jail, will be glad to know that her condition has greatly improved. Mrs. Logan fell during the late sleazy spell and sustained injuries which caused a feeling of great uneasiness among her wide circle of acquaintances. She is at the home of her son, 2720 Portland avenue.

Mayor Kister possesses every qualification necessary for the office, and his many friends in Bowling Green and this city hope to see the honor conferred upon him. He is a staunch Democrat, a practical Catholic and a prominent member of the Young Men's Institute.

SCALLY ELECTED.

Tom Scally was paid a deserved compliment by the Musicians' Union of this city. Though the organization is largely German the popular Irish musician defeated John Kurkamp for delegate to their national convention by a big majority.

Louisville Conclave, Improved Order of Heptasophs, promise their friends an evening of real enjoyment next Tuesday evening at Falls City Hall. The musical and literary exercises embrace unique features and some pleasing surprises.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Called From Exchanges.

Patrick McGuire, J. P., was elected Mayor of Sligo.

Drogheda has named Alderman McGuinness for its Mayor for this year. Alderman Edward Fitzgerald was the choice of the Cork corporation for Mayor.

John Curran's name headed the list from which will be chosen the next Sheriff for Waterford.

Alderman P. Hoynes, for the past year Mayor of Kilkenny, was unanimously re-elected for the ensuing year.

The Londonderry corporation has chosen Alderman Marshall Tille for the chief magistracy for the ensuing year.

Delegates are being selected for the national convention of the United Irish League, which will be held soon after the production of the land bill.

Information has reached Athlone that his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant may spend a considerable time during the early summer among the Shannon lakes.

The Belfast corporation unanimously re-elected Sir Daniel Dixon as Lord Mayor. This is the fifth occasion that the honor has been conferred on Sir Daniel.

At the Manor Hamilton quarter sessions in Leitrim County Court Judge Waters was presented with a pair of white gloves, there being no criminal case to come before him.

Margaret Cronin, an old woman aged about eighty years, was found dead in her room at Killarney recently. Coroner O'Sullivan and a jury found a verdict of death due to old age.

At the statutory meeting of the Clonmel corporation, held in the Town Hall, Alderman Thomas Morrissey was unanimously elected Mayor of the borough, in succession to Alderman Condon, M. P.

Another outbreak of scarlet fever was reported from the Clonmel jail, and fears were entertained for the safety of the coercion prisoners. The matter had been kept very secret up to the first of this month.

A serious fire broke out in Mullingar and destroyed the premises of Peter Mullally, licensed publican and baker. The military with their engine were speedily on the scene, but their efforts were futile until a large amount of damage had been done.

Large and enthusiastic meetings under the auspices of the United Irish League were held on Sunday, February 1, at Ballinahughish, Inniscarra and Roselalia. John P. Hayden, William Delaney, D. D. Sheehan and Eugene Creagh, members of Parliament, made spirited addresses.

Intense excitement prevailed in Waterford in connection with the election of Mayor and the selection of James A. Power has met with general approval. He is an excellent speaker, a gentleman of great business capabilities, and will no doubt reflect credit on his native city and the high office to which he has been called.

The Labor party of Dublin felt keenly the defeat of Alderman Dowd, who was their candidate for Mayor. At the last meeting of the Dublin Trades Council several speakers adversely criticised the action of the United Irish League throughout the Mayoralty contest, and strongly urged that in future the council stand upon an independent footing.

General regret is felt over the death of John McCarthy, T. C., of Bantry, at the age of sixty-one years of age. Deceased was one of the most respected merchants of the town, and was well known and highly esteemed in West Cork. He was prostrated with illness about two weeks before his death, and from the first little hope of his recovery were entertained.

At the meeting of the Cashel District Council, Michael Slattery presiding, the following resolution was proposed by Patrick Ryan, seconded by Timothy Fahy, and passed unanimously: "That we most emphatically condemn the brutal and barbarous sentence on Martin O'Dwyer, C. C., who is a very delicate man, and we consider his life in danger by the hard labor sentence imposed on him."

The election for Mayor of Limerick resulted in victory for Michael Donnelly over Ralph Nash, solicitor. Both candidates stood on the Nationalist platform. Outgoing Mayor Barry was accorded a unanimous vote of thanks. Mayor Donnelly in acknowledging the compliment of electing him said the National interest would not suffer with him during his year of office, and upon his motion a resolution in favor of home rule was passed unanimously.

Maxwell Charles Close, of Drum-banagher Castle, near Newry, died Monday in his seventy-sixth year. Deceased owned a large estate in the County Armagh. He was a Justice of the Peace of Armagh and served the office of High Sheriff in 1854. Close was a Conservative in politics, and represented his county in Parliament from '57 to '64 and from '74 to '85. He is succeeded in the estate by his eldest son, Major Maxwell Archibald Close, born in 1853, who is married to a daughter of the Earl of Castletewart.

J. P. Farrell, member of Parliament for South Longford, was released from Sligo jail on the completion of a term of two months' imprisonment, and a further month in lieu of finding bail, under the crimes act. Farrell was convicted for publishing an alleged intimidatory libel in his newspaper, the Longford Leader. On arrival at Longford he was heartily welcomed by a large crowd and several bands. Addresses were presented and a bonfire blazed in the Market square, where the houses in the town were illuminated.

The Marquis of Londonderry, addressing the Irish Agricultural Association at Belfast, said agriculturists in Ireland had a right to congratulate themselves as regards prices in nearly all branches of their industry. The Irish farmer was holding his own with English and Scotch competitors, and by energy, ability and zeal he had been making more out of his land than for some years past. He appealed to farmers to grow flax of such a character as would compete satisfactorily with that introduced from Russia and Belgium.

There has just passed away in Macroom an interesting addition to the list of Irish centenarians in the person of Mrs. Ellen Shea. The deceased, who was a native of Carriganmulla, reached the record age of 110 years, and up to a short time before her death she was in full possession of her faculties. The old woman used to relate with great vivacity several episodes in the '89 rebellion and the doings of the Whiteboys in the district. She used to recall with great feeling the harrowing scenes that happened around her in the great famine of '47 and '48.

The worst thunderstorm that memory can remember burst over the town of Skibbereen recently. Hall came down quite suddenly like a shower of pebbles, and immediately followed a flash of lightning seldom equalled, and almost simultaneously thunder that shook the houses. On came another in rapid succession, driving terror into those who were yet awake and those aroused from their slumbers. It transpires that the house of a farmer named Walsh at Lissard was struck violently by the electric fluid and the chimney knocked down and roof swept away. Mrs. Walsh's body is all black and she is in a very serious state.

At the annual January meeting of the Standing Committee of the Roman Catholic Bishops and Archbishops of Ireland, held in Dublin two weeks ago, a resolution was adopted affirming that the holding of a conference between the representatives of the tenant farmers and landowners of Ireland the Bishops consider to be an event of the best augury for the future welfare of both classes, and earnestly hope that the unanimity of the conference will result, without further delay, in legislation that will settle the land question once for all and give the Irish people of every class a fair opportunity to live in and serve their native land.

A great and destructive fire broke out Sunday morning at Armagh, and before it could be controlled property to the value of over $300,000 was destroyed. It originated at Todd's drapery stores in the center of the city, and owing to the exposed position and the presence of a strong wind the conflagration rapidly spread to the arcade and six adjoining warehouses and shops, all of which were destroyed. The local fire brigade found it impossible to save the block of buildings, and confined their efforts to safeguarding the adjoining houses. In a space of five hours the huge pile had been destroyed, though the ruins burned till Monday night. Fortunately no lives were lost, though there were some very narrow escapes.

MEMORIAM.

MRS. JOHN H. WHALEN.

For a cherished mother love is pleading,
Something that my heart would freely give,
Some poor chord of music interceding
That her name in memory's heaven may live.

Ah, I sigh for those who mourn, no other
Holds them dearer for their sorrow's sake,
But the strain love breathes to praise a mother
Angel lips alone, alone should wake.

Cares and sorrows are our earthly portion,
One by one the clouds and beams flit by,
But a mother's dear and fond devotion
Shines a fadless star in memory's sky.

Oh, her love, how beautiful, how tender,
Oh, her love, how constant and how warm,
Heaven itself with all its cloudless splendor
Shines reflected in a mother's form.

She it is our sorrows ever cheering,
She it is who smiles when we rejoice,
Comforting the stricken and the erring
With the sweetness of her angel voice.

All the airs of paradise about her,
That dear heaven so radiant and far,
Life would be a wilderness without her,
She our morning and our evening star.

She it is who makes our youth a play time,
Lifts our hearts to radiant dreams above,
Gives the soul its one eternal Maytime,
Lit by fadless roses of her love.

By one name is God's great silence broken,
Sweeter far than name than any other,
Dearer have no human lips e'er spoken,
Heaven alone can breathe it, it is mother.

REPRINCE.
For a cherished mother love is pleading,
Something that my heart would freely give,
Some poor chord of music interceding
That her name in memory's heaven may live.

Ah, I sigh for those who mourn, no other
Holds them dearer for their sorrow's sake,
But the strain love breathes to praise a mother
Angel lips alone, alone should wake.

ELVIRA SYDNOR MILLER.

CLARA VOLZ.

Clara Volz died February 9, 1902, just in the bloom of youth, when her sweet and amiable disposition had won for her a host of friends. She was a sweet, devoted Christian, performing her Christian duties with true devotion, and when the angel of death came and laid upon her lips that "kiss of God which kills but does not harm" she was not afraid, but met death bravely, as she met life, and with a smile on her lips fell asleep.

The angel of a happy home
Laid low beneath the sod,
To sleep forever while the soul
Must wing its flight to God.

A Christian sister loving loved,
By sweet religion blessed,
Ah! those who knew her loved her truly,
But God loves her the best.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

Another division was recently organized at Portland, Oregon.

Division 3 will entertain its friends with euchre Monday night.

Six divisions of Waterbury, Conn., are planning for a fair, to be held from April 25 to May 2.

A meeting of the County Board committee having charge of the hall was called for Friday night.

Members of Division 1 who have proposed candidates should accompany them to the initiation on Tuesday, February 24.

Emmet's birthday will be fittingly celebrated by the Hibernians of St. Paul and their friends at Mozart Hall on the evening of March 4.

The two divisions of New London, Conn., have appointed a joint committee to procure a site for the purpose of erecting a new hall thereon.

Division 1 of Jeffersonville will hold an interesting meeting Monday night. Reports from the gentlemen arranging for the observance of St. Patrick's day will be read.

A new branch of the Ladies' Auxiliary was formed at Glens Falls, N. Y., last week, in connection with Division 1 of that place. The charter list closed with 130 members.

The Hibernian Rifles of Worcester offered a purse of $75 in gold to the lady selling the largest number of tickets. Miss Marion Barry sold 800 and was awarded the prize.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Paul has grown so large that it was necessary to secure a larger hall. They therefore moved into the new Central Hall occupied by Division 1.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Division 5 of Minneapolis last night inaugurated the first of a series of card socials to be given at the homes of members, where all card players can enjoy the fascinating game of forty-five.

The Hibernians of Rome, N. Y., have received the promise from the manager of the Washington Theater at that place that he would do all in his power to keep from the stage anything that caricatures the Irish race.

Division 2 of Fall River, Mass., worked the third and fourth degrees on fifty-three candidates recently. This division has 467 members and a treasury of $3,000. On the death of a member the sum of $200 is given to next of kin.

The Hibernians of Providence had a mass of petition offered up for the recovery of the Rev. Dr. T. Kelly, of the Church of the Assumption. Notwithstanding the mass took place at 5:30 there was both a large choir and attendance of members.

The programme arranged for the Hibernian Emmet celebration at Buffalo on Sunday, March 1, will exceed anything of the kind ever presented to the people of that city. It will be held in Shea's Garden Theater, and the venerable Father Cronin, editor of the Catholic Union and Times, will preside.

The placing of a statue of St. Patrick in St. Mary's church at Omaha was attended by impressive ceremonies last Sunday week. The statue was the gift of Division 3, which attended in a body. W. J. McCann, a former resident and popular Hibernian of this city, is Vice President of the division.

One of the features of the grand patriotic festival with which the Hibernians of California will honor the memory of Washington at the Alhambra Theater, San Francisco, will be the rendition of the national airs of America by a concert of Irish harps under the direction of Madame Carousi, one of the most famous harpists on the continent.

Minneapolis Hibernians have decided to celebrate the anniversary of the birth of Robert Emmet by giving a high class musical and literary entertainment at some one of the large halls of that city on March 4. As this year marks the centennial anniversary of the young Irish patriot's execution, it is proposed to make this birthday celebration a memorable one.

Tomorrow afternoon Division 2 of Minneapolis will hold an important meeting at Labor Temple, to which all members of the order throughout that city have been invited. The affair will be in the nature of a social event, and the State officers from Minneapolis and St. Paul will be present. A number of new candidates are to be initiated and one of the best degree teams in the city will conduct the work.

A movement is now on foot to organize a Hibernian singing society in Providence for the purpose of participating in the degree work of the local divisions, as the work of a satisfactory choir has of late been the most interesting feature of the new ritualistic work. The membership will comprise members of all divisions and military companies having any inclination to cultivate their vocal talent. Already similar societies have been organized in New York, Pennsylvania and other parts of the country.

Last week Division 1 of St. Paul moved into the new Central Hall, initiated a large class, held a hot house warming session and banqueted a large number of State and county officers and visiting members of other divisions. The immense banquet hall, which seats three hundred at a time, was kept filled for two long hours, and in turn more than filled all the good people with New York counts and from that down to pure counts. Take it on the whole, the Irish Standard says, it was one of the most successful meetings of the Hibernians ever held in St. Paul, and so pronounced by the visiting brothers. Everything was clockwork from start to finish and in first-class style, and wound up with a genuine Irish jig and reel as danced on the green hills of Erin years ago by Mrs. Hughes and Tom Lannan.

Mackin's Social Season to Close
With Distribution of Elegant Prizes.

The most successful social season in the history of Mackin Council will be brought to a close next Wednesday night with a select euchre at the club house, 530 Twenty-sixth street, when a large number of handsome and valuable prizes will be distributed. During the winter months this worthy organization has entertained the good people of the West End with a delightful weekly series of free euchres. Upon the request of many friends the council has consented to give this one on a large scale and charge an admission fee of twenty-five cents. A special committee, composed of Messrs. Edmund Coleman, Frank Burke, Harry Moran, Frank Schmidt and Hugh Higgins have the affair in charge, and nothing will be left undone for the pleasure of those who will attend. The club house will be brilliantly illuminated for the occasion. The members of the other councils of the Falls Cities are expected to be there in full force. No better opportunity than this will be offered for an evening of real jollity and amusement.

JUBILEE ADDRESS.

Judge Matt O'Doherty this week accepted the invitation of the Federation of Catholic Societies of Cleveland to deliver the principal address at the celebration of the silver jubilee of Pope Leo XIII., which occurs on Tuesday, March 3. Right Rev. Bishop Horstmann will preside, and the largest gathering of Catholics ever witnessed in Cleveland will assemble to do honor to the venerable head of the church.

LIVELY DEBATE.

The debate to take place Monday night at Trinity Hall, East Gray street, between Peter Cosgrove, the young lawyer, and Eugene J. Cooney, of the Produce Shippers' Dispatch, should prove exceedingly interesting at this time, when the subject of crime is being so widely discussed. Both gentlemen possess oratorical powers above the ordinary, and as the debate is free to the public a large audience will doubtless hear them.

LECTURING.

Rev. Father William B. Ryan, the beloved pastor of the Catholic church at Winchester, delivered four lectures this week—two at Stanton and two at Beattyville. The eloquent priest may be invited to lecture in Louisville for the Young Men's Institute, of which order he has long been a conspicuous member.

GRAND PRIZE EUCHE.

The members of St. Joseph's Dramatic Club, assisted by the young ladies of St. Joseph's church, will give their first euchre next Thursday night, February 19, at the school hall, Washington street, between Webster and Adams, for the benefit of St. Joseph's church. This euchre promises to be a very pleasant affair, and members have no doubt of its success. Handsome prizes have been freely contributed by the members of the club.
